Report of Superintendent of Schools

To the School Board of Kensington, N. H.:

I herewith submit my annual report as superintendent of the Kensington schools, the tenth in the series of such reports.

As usual, I am calling your attention first to the statistical tables which are attached to this report because they furnish a great deal of information in a concise form and make it easy to survey our progress and the state of our schools.

Table I records the statistical history of the Kensington schools for ten years and is notable for at least four reasons. First, the whole matter of public school attendance seems more important to parents now than ever before. This fact is shown in the column headed "Percent of Attendance." Parents nowadays, much more than formerly, keep children healthy and ready for school; and I am glad to say teachers are very much more inclined than ever before to make school so attractive that children will want to attend. The per cents. of attendance maintained for last year and the year before that are very good indeed for country schools. To be sure, the weather and the general state of health have been favorable in both these years. Last year we had a good many more cases of tardiness than we ought to have in Kensington, and while the number is less by far than in some years, this matter is worthy of our attention. It is our purpose to cut down this large number. As a second item of interest noted in this table, there is the fact that our enrollment has dropped considerably. The column headed "Total Number of Pupils" indicates that 49 was the enrollment for last year; there was an average membership of 39. A third item of interest noted in this table is the fact that we have added practically a week to the school year and have almost reached our standard of 180 days of actual schooling. The fourth item of note in this table is the matter of teachers' salaries. While it has almost doubled in ten years, it still is below the figure for this item in many school districts.

Table II gives us for the year which was finished in June, 1928, the same items as contained in Table I, but they are listed for each school. It is probable that sickness will explain the low per cent. of attendance at the West School.

Table VI is of value simply because it offers comparisons with other districts in the Union similar to Kensington. It shows the number of days of school in each district, together with the average salaries of the teachers and the average percent. of attendance. It should be read, probably, in connection with Tables VII and VIII, both of which furnish figures of comparative costs of public schooling in the districts of this Union. Table VII gives the comparative standing of the towns in total current costs, which include nothing for repairs or new buildings or other items of that kind but is for the current running expenses of high and elementary schools. Table VIII shows Kensington's comparative standing in the 244 districts during the last six years.

It will be seen by glancing at Table VIII that in the year which ended June, 1928, Kensington's relative cost number was 209 in the whole 244. In some of the past years, the number has been higher than that. The local district cost, however, has not varied much. The High School cost is a large one, of course, because most of the pupils who finish with our schools wish to proceed to High School.

During the year which closed in June, 1928, the teachers were more than ever zealous in the discharge of their duties. This was shown all through the year, not only in the general impression which comes from seeing the schools in action but from the standardized tests which were given as usual, the results of which you have seen. Miss Carpenter, teaching her first year of school, did especially well in organizing her school. Her plans are always well made; her assignments of lessons are precise, neat, and adequate. Her school and her work were inspected and highly approved by Miss Phyla Griffin, the visiting inspector from the State Board of Education. The tests given her school show good progress and those who have this year gone to High School from her school are succeeding with their work. She conducts herself always with dignity and is a good example for her pupils. She is her own janitor and keeps a clean and tidy room. I wish it were possible for all parents and citizens to visit Miss Robie's school to see this veteran in action, to feel the pulse which she, the heart of her school, sends through the young lives in her charge. Miss Robie teaches much not printed in books. The district is under obligation to her for her many years of fine service. Pupils and school officers alike had learned to have great admiration and respect for Miss Florence Kimball's conscientious and painstaking work, her noble example of a good life, and her generally fine influence in the community; they were very greatly shocked at the misfortune which overtook her in the spring of last year and which finally caused her death in October. In order that the esteem in which Miss Kimball was held by parents, pupils, and school officers may have visible form in a permanent record, I suggest that a memorial page be printed in this year's School Board report.

The statistical table dealing with health supervision contains the statistics for the last year but none for the current year. Up to this time it has been impossible to find a physician willing to give his time in this very busy season to the full examination. Now, however, a physician has been engaged and we expect the examinations will be made in the near future.

The general physical equipment of the schools is in good condition. No large repairs will be required during the coming year unless some unforeseen accident takes place. The painting done last summer, inside and outside, was a much needed item and adds to the life and the appearance of the school houses. The minor repairs during the coming year will be of the usual nature.

Each year, as it goes around, brings to my mind again the fact that to an exceptional degree, the parents, teachers, pupils, and School Board of Kensington co-operate in maintaining efficient schools; it is a pleasure to make public record of my appreciation of all this co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

CLIFTON A. TOWLE,

Superintendent of Supervisory Union No. 16.
